In addition to our statewide work, Public Opinion Strategies currently has helped elect seven new Members of Congress, four being a flip in control. Along with the 25 Members of Congress who have already won, the firm also has 23 clients for Congress in races that have yet to be called, including 13 that would be flips.

Public Opinion Strategies also polled for successful House Independent Expenditure campaigns in three races, as well as IE polling for eleven additional races that have not been called.

The firm also polled for winning legislative campaigns in five states: California, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, and Kentucky. Our work helped maintain a majority in the Missouri State House and supermajorities in the Ohio State House as well as the Kentucky State Senate and State House.

The firm also conducted the opinion research which guided successful ballot issues in two states. In Arkansas the firm lead the research effort in opposition to recreational marijuana. California Proposition 29 to further regulate dialysis clinics was defeated with over a 70% No vote, a new high-water mark for a proposition that was appearing on the ballot for the third time.
